SDC Journal: Design and Creativity renamed to "Journal of the International Colour Association" - JAIC

AIC has taken over the responsibility for the journal Colour: Design and Creativity and we will continue to develop and promote the journal internationally. We believe that it is essential for the world colour community to sustain this high quality journal. The name has now been changed to "Journal of the International Colour Association - JAIC" to better reflect the broader interest of AIC.

It should be adaptable for use at various scales in print, stationery, presentation graphics and on the Web. It should also be effective in grey-scale or black-and-white for monochrome copy.

We will announce the logo competition in January 2012. The winning logo will be presented at the AIC Interim Meeting 2012 in Taipei, Taiwan.
